

Norte, Rio Grande; Hugh A. Brown, Fruita.

Grass Range, N. Mex.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—The rapid pro-appropriation bills will soon leave that body free to take up and discuss any other business that may come before it. On the bills that have passed thus far, there has been little or no debate, except the few appropriation bill. Most of the time there has been much less than a quorum in sight and only the subcommittee in charge of a bill and those who may have been interested in certain features of it have been present and taken any part in the proceedings.

SILVER CREEK, Neb. July 12. —To the Editor of The Bee: As a foundation for some considerations or suggestions I wish

"Tim" Wilson, who escaped from the Kearsney Reformatory school some months ago, returned to Silver City last week Friday night and entered his father's house by stealth.

In town, notified Sheriff Porter of Central City, who came down and took "Tug" to the county jail. Dr. Martin, superintendent of the Federal school, being notified of his capture, came down to Central City and took him back to Kearney. While in charge of the officers in Silver City, "Tug" who is a boy of 14, made the most dire threats against Sheriff Parage and certain citizens of Silver City, when he charged with being instrumental in having him sent to the reform school, declaring that he would burn their school.

He said he wanted to go to the penitentiary, and asked he could do something that would send him there, but showed the utmost dread of being returned to the reform school.

raising questions as to what should be the treatment of such persons by the state. As yet "Fug" has never done anything very bad, though as a man, and he showed himself severely imprudent, and was frequently engaged in some petty act of thieving. He is a criminal by nature, and neither the

There are thousands of such people, well known to the police, in every city and town in the entire country. They are of both sexes and are found in almost every condition of life. Among them are criminals of all kinds and degrees, from such as this boy to hardened thieves, burglars, forgers, bank robbers, train wreckers and re-handled murderers. What shall be done with them?

swayed by sentiment, philanthropists, scientists, and those who have had long experience in the treatment and care of criminals. Hereafter such people have been permitted to run at large until some actual crime has been committed, and then, if the criminal could be caught and, if, happily, he did not, through some technicality of the law, or otherwise, escape conviction, he is freed, or term of days, months or years. If he does not effect his escape, or is not paroled out, in due time he is released to again prey upon the community a worse criminal than before.

Ought there not to be, at least in some respects, a radical change in our methods as regards criminals and the criminal classes? In the first place, the most stringent laws and regulations should be made, and the utmost care taken to prevent such people from immigrating to this country. And colony, say in Alaska, where confined criminals could be kept for life under the supervision and control of the United States government, and made to work in the forests and the mines, or in other ways, as might be provided, and where such persons could be sent from every city and state in the union? And why should not the sexes be kept separate, in different colonies perhaps, and not allowed to inter-marry and propagate their kind. For it is a well known law that like begets like, and that criminal parents produce criminal children.

CHARLES WOOSTER.

There is a growing feeling in Colorado that Governor Waite's check rein is too low for safety.

Doubtless the sight of so much unstocked water had a debilitating effect on George Gould's yacht.

Chicago should extend sympathy to Turkey. The "sick man of Europe" is considerably shaken up.

Justice Field of the United States supreme court is summing in the Catskills, hobnobbing with "dose funny peeples."

But it will in the future, as in the past, cheerfully applaud all donations made by George.

Dick Croker's horse won $33,500 at a late race. The winning is a horse on the author of the interrogation, "Where did you get it?"

The piteous parade of the military in the Chicago papers justifies concentrated action for libel or bombardment of White-chapel alley.

Reform is not appalled by the task before it in New York. An eminent ward healer has been sentenced to death for promising cures to the dying.

It is an ill wind that blows nobody good. The storm which has blown the eastward progress of Penney's utterances and flogged them on the way.

Mr. Debs might as well confirm the report that the strike is off. John Smith has declared against the strike, and J. Smith is too good a fellow to break it.

The country has cause for congratulation in the fact that that eminent advocate of the oppressed, Hon. Allen Root, refrained from breaking into the boycott. The Pappo cyclone is at peace with the world.

Foster Brooks is a Tennessee youth of 16, weighing 160 pounds. Three ago he broke his neck looking down upon the rent of the

The unanimity of New York papers in scoring Chicago may be explained by the fact that directory figures prove Chicago to be the first city of the land in population. Chicago has more than 2,000,000 people, and among the annoyances of eminence, the city would be the first to be rid of.

A monument to John Brown on the site of the old fort wherein he took refuge at Harper's Ferry is an early possibility. Captain Chambers, an old and respected citizen at Harper's Ferry, is now setting subscriptions, and already has secured promises of $15,000 for the monument.

Representative Amos Cummings of New York carried the bill making Labor day a national holiday. The bill was signed for President Taft's signature several days ago. Mr. Cleveland placed a new pen in his holder and immediately signed it. He gave the umpers, president of the American Federation of Labor, with a characteristic letter.

General Kelley also expected to make a major speech to the mob on the banks of the Ohio.

The peonish natives having refused to aid the commissary department, the army seized the train, and arrest followed. Three square miles were provided for the authorities for the purpose of the camp. The army and officers so much so that the officials replenished the commissary stores on condition that the army move on. The general went and agreed to the walkout. Kelley knows a few things about the camp.

The army have come down in Chicago sufficiently to enable me to view the field of carnage and "pluck a pearl of great price" from the late confusion. Readers will recall the burning of World's fair buildings on born of flame and smoke were overshadowed by other events, and the beam of world rejoicing which followed it was lost in the shadows. In justice to the author of the poem for the preservation of a delicious specimen of Rameyotv frenzy it deserves reproduction: "As the evening sun was shedding his level rays for the last time upon the earthlike scene of life, movement, and passion, the poet, in the hour of his vigils, saw the flowers of human handwork most untouched in their serene loveliness. Two hours later the new moon bent her pale crescent above them shining on a mass of flowers, the petals of which were white where the yellow red of blazing timbers had been against the blue-black which covers the site of the White City and covers its ruins."

Montana: Original—John R. Turner, Case Range, Fergus.

SILVER CREEK, Neb. July 12.—To the Editor of The Bee: As a foundation for our considerations or suggestions I wish offer, I give the following, which may be a help as an item of news.

"Tip" Wilson, who cameped from the town of Nebraska, who was outwitted and returned to Silver City last week Friday, might enticed his father's horse by stealing village marshal, fearing that he was being followed by the police. He was a white, who came down and took "Tip" to county jail. He, Martin, superintendent of the state school, being notified of his capture, advised him to take him to his old home in Kearley, where he charged the officers in Silver City, "who" he is a white, and a most dire threat against Edward Perry, who was a Silver Creek, whom he charged with being robbers, train wreckers and reformed thieves. What is the answer to this? It is a question which can be best answered by statesmen, philanthropists, scientists, and those who have had long experience in the treatment and care of criminals. It is a question which has been discussed at large and important crime has been committed, and then, if the criminal can be caught and, if, happily, he did not, can be prevented (technically speaking) or otherwise, escape conviction, he is fined, or worse, sentenced to imprisonment for a term of days, months or years. If he does not, he escapes, and he is back on the street, due time for his release to again prey on the community a worse criminal than before.

[illegible]

Now, there need to be at least in some instances, a radical change in our methods towards criminals and the criminal classes? In the first place, the most stringent laws and regulations should be made, and the police should be authorized to make investigations into this country. And would it not be well to establish a penal could be kept for life under the supervision and control of the United States marshal, and not be sold to the person, and the minor, or in other ways, as might be provided, and where such persons be sent from every city and state in the union. And where the sexes kept separate, in different colonies persons, and not allowed to inter-marry and propagate their kind. For it is well known that like begets like, and that criminal parents produce criminal children.

CHARLES WOOSTER.

PEOPLE AND THINGS.

There is a growing feeling in Colorado that Governor Waite's check rein is too low for safety.

It is the sight of so much unstocked territory has had a debilitating effect on George Ladd's yacht.

Chicago should extend sympathy to Turably shaken up, the staffs of the United States supreme court, the summer in the Catskills, hobnobbing with "dope funny" people," Chicago may flourish and rave at Pullman, it will in the future, as in the past, warmly applaud all donations made by Chicago.

Croker's horse won $23,500 at a late race. The winning is a horse on the issue of the interrogation, "Where did you hit?"

The pictorial parade of the military in Chicago papers justifies concentrated fire on libel or bombardment of Whitehall alley.

Reform is not applied by the task before New York. An eminent ward healer has been sentenced to death for promising assaults on voters.

It is an ill wind that blows nobody good, stoppage of the mails checked the eastward progress of Penney's utterances and delayed them on the way.

the country has cause for congratulation on the fact that that eminent advocate of the oppressed, Hon. Allen Root, refrained from taking into the boycott. The Pappo cyclone of peace with the world.

that directory figures prove Chicago to be the first city of the land in population. In matters of matters of war, it was among the annoyances of eminence. Announcement to John Brown on the site of a fort wherein he took refuge at Harpersburg is an emblem of responsibility. Harpersburg, an old and respected citizen at place, has set about getting subscription and already has secured promises of the monument. Representative Amos Cummings of New York carried the Amos Cummings Labor day a national holiday to the white house for the president's signature. Cleveland placed a new pen in his holder immediately signed it. He gave the to Mr. Cummings, who said it to Samuel J. Tilden, president of the American Federation of Labor, with a characteristic letter. General Kelly's forces executed a masterly stroke for grab on the banks of the Ohio. The national navy, the army, the navy and commissary department, the army seized upon, and arrested followed. These square were provided by the authorities for the army. The army and the navy, as well as, so much so that the officials received the commissary stores on condition that the army and the navy general and agreed to the waitlist. Kelly in a few striking curves. Kelly has calmed down in Chicago sufficiently to enable him to "pull a pearl of great price" the late conclusion. Readers will recognize the burning of World's fair buildings on of flame and smoke were overhaid, by other events, and the beacon of rhetoric which followed it was lost a shoulder. In justice to the author for the preservation of a delicate sense of flamboyant frenzy it deserves mention: "As the evening sun was just his level ray for the last time the artwful scene of life, movement, they fell into the sun, and out of those bowers of human handwork it untouched in their serene loveliness, hours later the new moon bent her present above them, shining on a mass of draped in the sun, and above the yellow red of blazing timbers against the blue-black which covers the site of the White City and covers the

Montana: Original—John R. Turner, Case Range, Fergus.

to take up and discuss any other business that may come before it. On the bills that have passed thus far, there has been little or no debate, except the few speeches which are made on the pension appropriation bill. Most of the time there has been much less than a quorum in sight and only the subcommittee in charge of a bill and those who may have been interested in certain bills have been present.

TREATMENT OF CRIMINALS.
SILVER CREEK, Neb. July 12.—To the Editor of The Bee: As a foundation for any considerations or suggestions I wish to offer, I give the following, which may be a benefit as an item of news.

They returned school some months ago, returned to Silver City last week Friday night. The boys who had earlier been by Central village marched with them to the town. A town, notified Sheriff Parry of Central, who came down and took "Doc" to the county jail. Mr. Martin, superintendent of the prison, advised the chief of the village, value down to the village and a him back to Kearley. While in charge the officers in Silver City, "Doc," who is the person who had been arrested, was taken to the prison. Sheriff Parry, who is Silver Creek, when he charged with being threatened in having him sent to the reform school, feeling that he would form a party to the Central village. He did not want to go again or two years, said he wanted to go to the penitentiary. He did not want to go to something that would have him, but showed the amount of being required to the reform school.

[illegible]

that there ought to be, at least in some of our religious communities, some methods for guarding criminals against the crime of recidivism. In the first place, the most stringent laws and regulations should be made, and the most care taken to prevent such people from accumulating a record. And, if that did not seem well to establish a penal colony, say in Alaska, where confined criminals could be kept for life under the supervision and control of the federal government, and made to work in the forests and the mines, or in other ways, as could be provided, and where such persons could be sent from every city and state in the Union, and where the criminals would be kept separate, in different colonies and not allowed to inter-marry and propagate their kind. For it is a well known fact that the best way to prevent criminals produce criminal children.

CHARLES WOOSTER.

PEOPLE AND THINGS

There is a growing feeling in Colorado thaterner Walter's check rein is too low for liberty. The sight of so much unwatched horse just having a debilitating effect on George's life's yacht.

Chicago should extend sympathy to Turkey. The "sick man of the Europe" is continually shaken up.

Justice Field of the United States supreme court is summing in the Catalin, hobnobbing with "dope funny people."

Chicago may ~~lose~~ rave at Pullman, as it will in the future, as in the past, but possibly applaud all donations made by the Crocker's horse won $23,500 at a late sale. The winning is a horse on the auction of the intergaration, "Where did you buy it?"

A pictorial parade of the military in Chicago on July 4th, 1898, encountered form is not appalled by the task before him. A New York. An eminent ward healer has been sentenced to death for promising cures on various ailments. It is an ill wind that blows nobody good. The stoppage of the mails checked the eastward progress of Penney's utterances and suggested them on the way. But might as well confirm the results of the strike. John Smith has been against the strike, and the sentence is numerous to be trifled with. The country has cause for congratulation. The fact that that eminent advocate of the strike, Hon. Alben Barkley, is refrained from talking into the boycott. The Pappi cyclone is peace with the world. Peace breaks in a Tennessee youth of 15, weighing 130 pounds. He is six feet six inches tall. He is a good looking young man looking down upon the rest of the the unanimity of New York papers in cheering Chicago may be explained by the fact that directory figures prove Chicago to be the largest city in the country. It is a jealous muttering of would-be rivals among the annoyances of eminence.

A monument to John Brown on the site of Fort Mifflin, where he died, was erected last year forthwith he took refuge at Harpersburg. It is an excellent idea. John Brown, an old and respected citizen at place, has set about getting subscriptions and already has secured promises of $100,000 for the monument.

At the American Association's meetings of New York carried the bill making Labor day a national holiday to the white house for president's signature several days ago. Cleveland placed a new pen in his holder and immediately signed it. He signed for Mr. Cummings, who sent it to Samuel Johnson, president of the American Federation of Labor, with a characteristic letter.

For grand old time, the Communist Party's national executive committee, having refused to let the military department, the army seized Kelly, and arrest followed. Three square feet were provided by the authorities for the three. The city was a war zone, and so much so that the officials reached the commissary stores on condition that the army move on. The general and were to be a war zone. Kelly was a new striking work-out.

The chairs have calmed down in Chicago sufficiently to enable one to view the field of the game and "rub a pearl of great price" in the late communist. The author has been burning of World's fair ballings on light of the 19th. The inspection, program and conclusion of that picturesque game and the author's presence were by other events, and the beauty of racism which followed it was just a shadow. In justice to the author for the preservation of a delicious banquet, the author's presence was

and his level rays for the last time the erstwhile scene of life, movement color, they fell upon the familiar outset of these flowers of human handiwork untouched in their serene loveliness.
 Hours later the new moon bent her crescent above them (shining on a mass ins, wrapped in a pall of smoke, save the yellow red of blazing timbers against the blue-black which covers life of the White City and covers